THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

November 9, 2015

It is my great pleasure to join in paying tribute to all those serving in the National Veteran Corps.

The men and women who have defended our Nation embody the forces of common purpose and camaraderie from which America has always drawn strength. Through each chapter of our country's story, that selfless spirit has endured because an unbroken line of heroes has carried it forward from one generation to the next.

As National Veteran Corps members, each of you has dedicated yourself to serving communities across the Nation you helped defend or serving those who wore the uniform on our behalf. Your love of country and selflessness reflect the very best of America. I trust you take pride in the legacy of progress you are contributing to and in the ways you are inspiring and enriching our country.

As you gather on this special occasion, please know you have the enduring gratitude of your President.
