

DETERMINING YOUR HOURS

We need your experience and leadership to expand the pro bono service ethic in the business community. Please report your pro bono hours from February 2008 – February 2011. Calculate your past and estimated future contribution, you can use one of the following three formulas:

1. Percentage of Skilled Workforce

_____ % of your company's employees will donate _____ hours of pro bono service or skills-based volunteering during the next year. At an estimated value of $150 per professional hour, your commitment is worth $_____.

2. Number of Pro Bono or Skills-Based Volunteer Hours

Your company will contribute _____ hours of pro bono service or skills-based volunteering during the next year. At an estimated value of $150 per hour, your commitment is worth $_____.

3. Pre-Determined Dollar Value

Your company will contribute $_____ worth of pro bono service or skills-based volunteering during the next year.

Billion+Change Champions will be recognized at the 2010 National Conference on Volunteering and Service in New York, June 28-30, 2010. In addition, all Champions will be invited to our Invitation Only breakfast event with our new CEO, Patrick Corvington on Monday, June 28, 2010.

CHAMPION REPORTING FORM

As A Billion+Change Champion, you pledge to take the following actions:

- Establish or expand your organization's delivery of donated or volunteer professional services to the nonprofit sector by providing your employees with new opportunities to share their talents.
- Within three months of becoming A Billion+Change Champion, pledge a quantifiable commitment to expand pro bono service and skills-based volunteering.
- Work with other A Billion+Change Champions to define the systems to appropriately quantify and track your company's contributions (whether valued as time, money, or a combination).
- Share best practices and participate in the ongoing dialogue to expand the pro bono service ethic in the private sector.
