What institutions are currently participating?

Here is a current list of participating institutions

What defines a qualified institutions?

Qualified institutions include Title IV institutions listed on the website of Federal Student Aid, an office within the U.S. Department of Education. A Title IV institution has an agreement with the U.S. Department of Education that makes students eligible for at least one of the federally backed forms of financial assistance (such as Pell Grants, Perkins Loans, Stafford Loans, National Direct Loans, and Federal Consolidated Loans).

Education awards may also be used for programs approved by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs. As of October 1, 2009, the Education Award may be used for expenses and fees of educational institutions and programs approved under the G.I. Bill.

Is the Matching Program restricted to colleges and universities?

No. We welcome vocational schools, international programs, and other continuing education options, so long as they meet the criteria set forth above for “qualified institutions.”

Why should institutions offer benefits to AmeriCorps alumni?

AmeriCorps alumni have valuable traits and diverse skills. They are committed to civic engagement, equipped to problem solve, and stand out as leaders.

By offering benefits to AmeriCorps alumni, institutions can:

- Attract highly-motivated, engaged students who become campus leaders
- Demonstrate their commitment to civic engagement
- Increase rankings, especially in the areas of student civic engagement and volunteerism
- Increase enrollment of community college and transfer students
- Recruit graduate students into under-enrolled programs

What is the minimum requirement to participate in the Matching Program?
