

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

February 29, 2016

I send greetings to all those participating in AmeriCorps Week.

When engaged individuals imagine our world as it could be and come together to create lasting change, extraordinary things are possible. Through service, we build momentum toward progress and embody the spirit of common purpose that is at the very core of who we are as a Nation and as a people. This AmeriCorps Week, let us remember the way hope ripples throughout our country—uniting people of different origins and backgrounds to plant seeds of change for future generations.

As you reflect on the impact your efforts have made and look to the work ahead, I wish you all the best.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to be "Barack Obama", written in a cursive style. The signature is centered on the page.