Feedback for applicant

Because the applicant is proposing a new program, no data have been collected to show the effectiveness of the program on the community. However, the applicant plans to conduct both formative and summative evaluations to assess the program's efficiency and its ability to meet program objectives.

Rating Justification

The applicant's level of evidence is "no evidence" based on a lack of evaluative evidence of their proposed program's effectiveness other than the use of references to multiple research studies supporting proposed program practices. Because the applicant is proposing a new program, no data have been collected to show the effectiveness of the program on the community. However, the applicant plans to conduct both formative and summative evaluations to assess the program's efficiency and its ability to meet program objectives.
