Overview

Objective of the New Project Director's Orientation

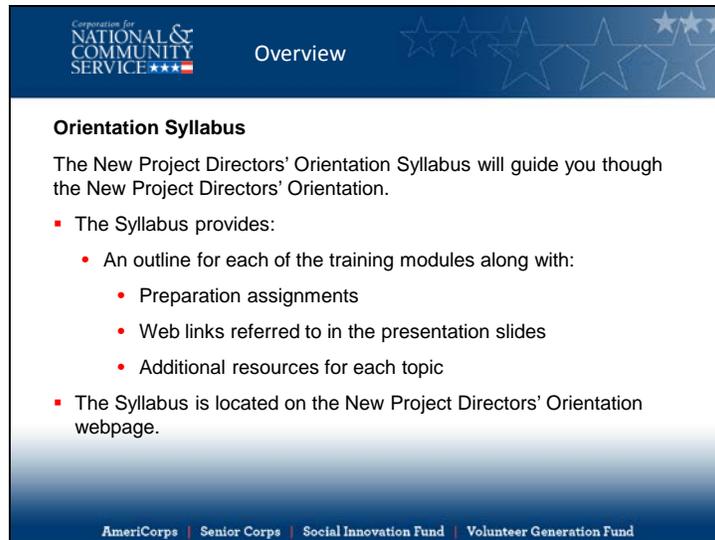

The New Project Directors' Orientation introduces new project directors to key information and resources needed to manage a Senior Corps project in compliance with Federal regulations and Senior Corps policies.

AmeriCorps | Senior Corps | Social Innovation Fund | Volunteer Generation Fund

Successful Senior Corps project directors need a wide variety of expertise including project management skills, communication skills, people skills, community organizing skills, creativity. Project directors also need basic information and resources to manage a Senior Corps project in compliance with the federal rules and regulations and how to use the important materials related to the federal regulations and Senior Corps policy.

The New Project Directors' Orientation will give you the information you will need to get started.

Slide 4

Orientation Syllabus

The New Project Directors' Orientation Syllabus will guide you through the New Project Directors' Orientation.

- The Syllabus provides:
 - An outline for each of the training modules along with:
 - Preparation assignments
 - Web links referred to in the presentation slides
 - Additional resources for each topic
- The Syllabus is located on the New Project Directors' Orientation webpage.

Curriculum and Structure

- Training Modules:
 - Introduction to CNCS and Senior Corps
 - Project Management
 - Managing Stations & Volunteers
 - Budgets, Reports, & Grant Management
- Each module has three parts:
 - Preparation
 - Presentation
 - Consultation

AmeriCorps | Senior Corps | Social Innovation Fund | Volunteer Generation Fund

The New Project Directors' Orientation curriculum will guide you through key policies and regulations that must be implemented in your project. Work with your State Office Staff to develop a schedule for completing the four training modules that make up the curriculum.

The four training modules are as follows:

The first module, Introduction to CNCS and Senior Corps will cover background, legislative, and organizational information for CNCS and the Senior Corps projects, the Strategic Plan, and resources that are available to help manage Senior Corps projects.

The second module called Project Management will cover important information including the roles of the sponsoring organization, project staff, advisory councils.

The third module is Stations and Volunteers which will review the requirements for volunteer stations and volunteers including: MOUs, volunteer enrollment, eligibility and assignments.

The fourth module, Budgets, Reports and Grants Management will cover Senior Corps budgets and fiscal rules including: managing in-kind donation, allowable costs, fund raising.

Each module has three parts: preparation, presentation, and consultation.

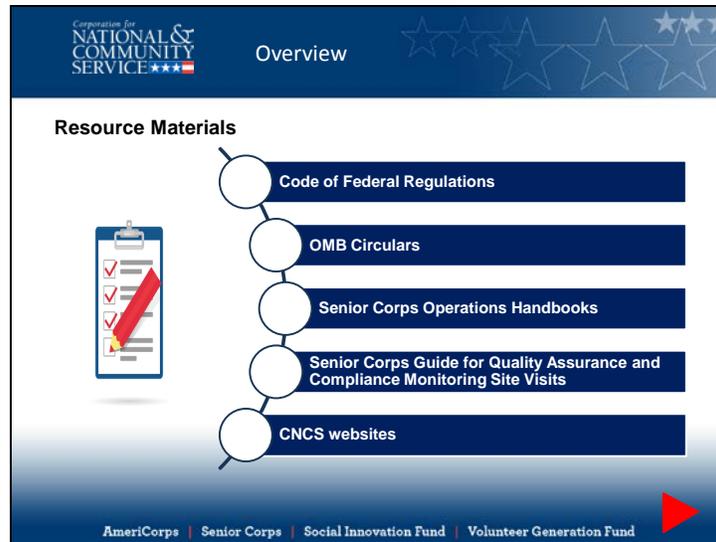

Preparation: There is an preparation assignment associated with each module. The assignments are designed to help you apply the information from the presentations to your project. New project directors who complete the assignments in conjunction with the presentation better understanding the purpose of the program requirements and have a better idea of what they need to do to manage and improve their project.

Presentation: The presentations are accessible online from the Senior Corps New Project Directors' Orientation webpage. You will be able to view the presentation as your time permits. It is recommended that you set up a schedule with your state program officer and complete the presentations over a 1-2 month period.

Consultation: You will have questions as you complete the preparation assignments and view the presentations. You should schedule time with your CNCS program officer to discuss each module to be sure you understand how to implement the rules in your project.

Slide 6

Senior Corps project directors should be familiar with Federal Code of Regulations, relevant OMB Circulars, the Senior Corps Operations Handbooks, and the Senior Corps Compliance Monitoring Guide. These are the resource documents you will use to complete the New Project Directors' Orientation curriculum and to manage your Senior Corps grant.

Let's look at each of these resources and how to access them.

First we will talk about the Code of Federal Regulations.

Slide 7

Code of Federal Regulations

- Codification of general and permanent rules published in the Federal Register by:
 - The executive departments
 - Agencies of the Federal Government
- Source document for the requirements that govern Senior Corps grants.
 - When Congress passes a law that affects a Senior Corps program, it is recorded in the CFR
 - Senior Corps projects are required to adherence to the new rule.

The Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), is the codification of the general and permanent rules published in the Federal Register by the executive departments and agencies of the Federal Government.

CFR is the source document for the requirements that govern Senior Corps grants. When Congress passes a law that affects a Senior Corps program, it is recorded in the CFR, Senior Corps projects are required to adherence to the new rule.

The electronic or eCFR is the online version of the CFR and is the best way to access the Code of Federal Regulations.

Slide 8

The slide features a blue header with the Corporation for National & Community Service logo and the word "Overview". The main content is a list of bullet points under the heading "eCFR". At the bottom, there is a navigation bar with links to AmeriCorps, Senior Corps, Social Innovation Fund, and Volunteer Generation Fund.

eCFR

- Electronic Code of Federal Regulations
 - <https://www.ecfr.gov>
- FGP, SCP and RSVP each have their own regulations:
 - SCP-45 CFR 2551
 - FGP- 45 CFR 2552
 - RSVP-45 CFR 2553
- The Senior Corps Regulations are easy to search and are written in an easy to understand question and answer format.

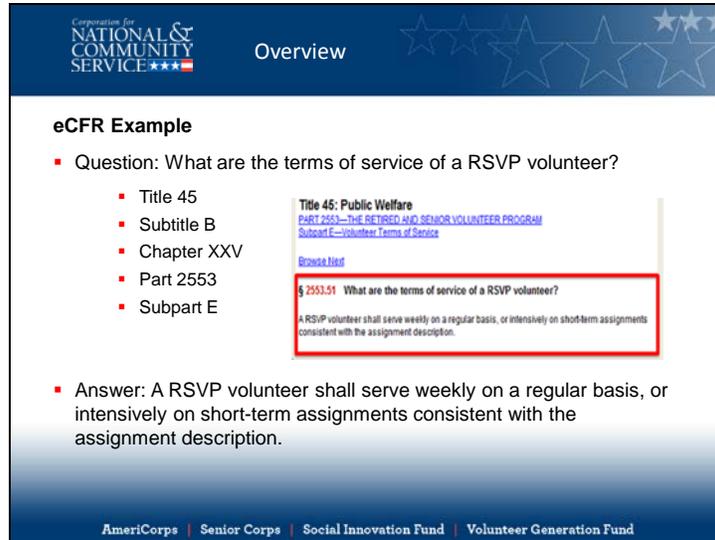

AmeriCorps | Senior Corps | Social Innovation Fund | Volunteer Generation Fund

The Corporation for National and Community Service is found in Title 45, Chapters XII and XXV. The regulations governing RSVP, for example, are in Chapter XXV, Part 2553, which is typically cited as “45 CFR 2553.”

An example of a change in the law for Senior Corps is the age requirement for FGP and SCP. In 2009 Congress passed the Kennedy Serve America Act (SAA) which re-authorized and expanded National Service programs. As part of the SAA several changes were made in the Senior Corps regulations. Prior to the SAA the minimum age for Foster Grandparents and Senior Companion volunteers was 60; with the passage of the SAA the regulation was changed to 55. The age requirement change is codified in the CFR.

The Senior Corps Federal Regulations are easy to search and are written in an easy to understand question and answer format.

The (Office of Management and Budget) OMB's mission includes assisting the President in overseeing and evaluating the effectiveness of agency programs, policies, and procedures.

OMB Circulars and Bulletins are major tools used by the Executive Office of the President to exercise managerial and policy direction over Federal agencies. Circulars and Bulletins promote government effectiveness by providing uniform guidance to agencies. They provide policy guidance or processes over a broad range of subjects, ranging from detailed instructions on preparing agency budget requests to principles for determining allowable research costs at universities.

Slide 11

The Uniform Guidance (also known as the Omnicircular or Supercircular) streamlines a number of circulars into one document. Senior Corps grants awarded in and after 2015 must follow the rules outlined in the Uniform Guidance. CNCS has a webpage devoted to the Uniform Guidance as an easy reference for grantees.

The accounting department in your sponsoring agency is likely familiar with OMB Circulars. As a Project Director you want to be aware of the rules affecting your program such as, allowable cost, and timekeeping requirements. The OMB Circular rules are federal requirements and must be followed by all CNCS programs.

Slide 12

The slide features a blue header with the Corporation for National & Community Service logo and the word "Overview". The main content area is white with a blue gradient at the bottom. It includes a section header "Senior Corps Operations Handbook", a paragraph stating "There is an Operations Handbook for each of the Senior Corps Programs", and another paragraph stating "The Handbook was developed for the use of sponsors of Senior Corps projects, including:". This is followed by a bulleted list of four categories: Executive Directors or their designees, Project Directors and other project staff, Community Advisory Group Members, and Others involved in managing local projects. To the right of the list is an image of three overlapping handbook covers. At the bottom of the slide, there is a navigation bar with the text "AmeriCorps | Senior Corps | Social Innovation Fund | Volunteer Generation Fund" and a red play button icon.

Slide 13

The slide is titled "Senior Corps Operations Handbook" and is part of an "Overview" presentation. It lists the following contents:

- The principal program
- Grants management requirements from the Federal Program Regulations
- OMB Circulars and forms
- Ideas for best practices
 - ✓ Handbooks are Technical Assistance Guides
 - ✗ Handbooks are not legal or policy-making documents
CFR is the source of requirements that govern Senior Corps grants

The footer of the slide reads: AmeriCorps | Senior Corps | Social Innovation Fund | Volunteer Generation Fund

What will you find in the Operations Handbooks?

-A guide to technical assistance and other resources to support an effective project.

-The Handbooks capture in one place the principal program and grants management requirements taken from

- Program Regulations
- Government-wide grants management requirements
- OMB-approved forms (Grant Application, Progress Reports, etc.).
- In the handbooks you will find suggestions, ideas, and effective practices for managing and operating local projects. These suggestions are based on the experience and ideas of Senior Corps project directors and staff of the Corporation for National and Community Service.

What the Operations Handbook is NOT

- Not a legal or policy-making document.
- The Code of Federal Regulations is the source of the requirements that govern Senior Corps grants.

The Senior Corps Guide for Quality Assurance and Compliance Monitoring Site Visits; commonly called "the Monitoring Guide" is the document used by CNCS staff to help determine if a sponsor is managing the grant project in compliance with Federal Regulations and the Terms and Conditions of the grant. The Compliance Monitoring Guide is used in NPDO to help to new Project Directors' focus on the key questions that measure how well the project is implementing the Senior Corps regulations and policies.

Periodically CNCS program officers schedule on-site Compliance Monitoring visits with each Senior Corps project in their state. The compliance monitoring portion of the visit is like an open book exam. CNCS state staff send the grantee the complete monitoring document 30 days in advance of the visit. Files and procedures will be reviewed during the visit to ensure the project is in compliance with the federal regulations. Site visits, meetings with sponsor staff, volunteers, and advisory council members are also included in Compliance Monitoring visits.
